2. Unfinished Business

- a. Hayden History Book Volume II Recap – Vice-Chair Bennett was contacted by Clarice Hansen and asked if she could contact Ann Sense. She said that she would get the two of them together; in fact they are going to have lunch tomorrow. Vice-Chair Bennett contacted James Burns, the son of Walter and Beatrix from the east side of Hayden Lake. She was unable to talk to him, but called him a few days later. His health is failing and is very weak. She is trying to reach him to review what she completed; otherwise, she will go with what she has.

Dewey and Lapriell Johnson who ran a cattle ranch on the Rimrock next to the Manning farm. When in Boise, Idaho for the History conference, Chair Eichelberger and Vice-Chair Bennett met with their daughter, Sheri (Johnson) Osburn. They were able to obtain some information regarding her parents, but she has more information which she was going to copy and mail to Vice-Chair Bennett. As of today's date, she still has not received that information which is needed to finish the biography information.

Nancy Morris came to my house and provided me with some photos on her husband's family who lived on the Rimrock. I did the history on the family but did not have any photos, now we have to insert them into the edited form and she will give them to Chair Eichelberger to include in the book Volume I.

She has neglected to report that on July 1, 2017, she had attended the funeral service for Polly (Ballard) Miller Short at the Rimrock Cemetery on Hudlow road. Vice Chair Bennett has been searching the Ballard family and finally has a lead which would be Polly's grand daughter, Joyce Miller, who lives on East Bunco Road.
